CROSBY S. NOYES Editor THE EVENING STAR has a regular and times larger than that of any other paper in the city. As a local NEWS paper and Advertising Medium it has no competitor.

The action of New York concerning electrocution is of much interest to the country generally. It is safe to say that if this method of capital punishment is allowed to stand in that state it will be generally adopted. If the authorities decide, as is now proposed in the state legislature, to return to hanging the public prejudice against a departure from custom elsewhere will be encouraged. It has been argued with a good deal of earnestness that this use of electricity will throw a stigma over electrical interests in general, and electric light companies have been the most persistent opponents of the electrocution law. But not all the electricians take this view of the matter. Electricity is of the sensible opinion that electricity is no more affected in its use for other purposes by this use than the rope is by its employment in execution by hanging. Electricity, in an editorial which may be accepted as unbiased as well as intelligently formed, gives voice to the general impression that a return to hanging would be a backward step toward barbarism. It says: "The reports which have come to us through the daily press in regard to the electrical executions which have already taken place go to show that death has been almost instantaneous in every case. While this has been disputed by a few witnesses, almost all have conceded that loss of consciousness has followed immediately on the application of the current. The muscular action which has been noticed cannot for a moment be attributed to noticed cannot for a moment be attributed to any consciousness on the part of the criminal. It is purely a reflex nervous action which can be reproduced by applying a current to the nerves of an animal which has been dead for some time; in fact a most vigorous muscular action can be set up in a dead body in this way.

On the other hand, what is the case in regard to the executions on the culture. for regard to the executions on the gallows? Here death seldom occurs under seven or eight minutes, and it is sometimes delayed until twelve or fifteen, and it must be caused either by strangulation or by breaking the neck of the condemned. In the latter case consciousness is lost almost immediately, and death is probably painless. In the case where it occurs the transportation which it does in most inby strangulation, which it does in most in-stances, death takes place slowly, and con-sciousness is maintained for a period of sev-eral minutes. An instance of this may be recalled in the case of the Chicago anarchist Parsons, and no more revolting a scene can be imagined than was his execution on the gal-lows. The cap slipped from his face, and for three or four minutes his suffering was plainly depicted on his face and was also shown by his violent contortions. Contrast this with the present mode of execution, and it seems that any question as to the desirability between the two methods can hardly arise, and it appears to us that Mr. Stein in trying to repeal this act | Full size Straw Mattress..... has allowed his feelings of repugnance, under the impressions of the moment, to get the betfer of his calmer judgment."

One of the finest possibilities of university extension in the United States is in the aid i will give to ambitions workingmen. The Feder ation of Labor, with perhaps other organizations of labor, has, through the endeavors of some leading minds, undertaken to press the Importance of the subject upon the people interested directly. Following Mr. Maguire's eloquent speech at the national conference of university extension the Philadelphia workmen have started a movement looking to the establishment of centers for the extension study of political economy. This course might well be supplemented by one on American and British history, a second on the industrial movement from the most ancient times to the present, a third on sociology and perhaps a Sourth on comparative politics, giving the origins of government and the progress of free institutions among the Aryan peoples. Such broad instruction would do a great deal to solidify the just demands of labor and restrain the impetuosity of the rasher but well-meaning irits. It cannot fail to have the effect of bringing labor and capital to a better under tanding of the matters in controversy between

The long-expected resignation of Chancellor Caprivi has taken place. The occasion might have been something else, but as a matter of fact it was the education bill which the kaiser wanted modified, but the minister desired to have stand without amendment. The kaise has always seemed to be attached to Caprivi and Caprivi has undonbtedly always been much attached to the kaiser. The latter's attachments probably are no deeper in any case than the imperial whim of the moment and the supposed imperial interest. If the successor of Caprivi, the late Finance Minister Miquel, shall have no better hold on the katser's affections than his predecessors have had it is not likely that he will find in the office a bed of roses, unless it be a bed of roses with all the thorns left on them. The kniser's scrofulous ear discommodes Germany as well as the

As the certainty of the guilt of the convicted murderers Hefin and Dye was so well established that they could not possibly escape the penalty affixed to the commission of so beingus | For 40 LBS. a crime, the Virginia mob might well have permitted the law to take its course. Lynch law seldom aids law, but frequently obstructs it. One case of mobexecution demoralizes a whole community-begetting fends among neighbors and taking away public respect for law and order. The anarchist element in Berlin and Paris celebrate with difficulty socialistic revolutionary movements. At the former place the words "Long live anarchy!" appeared on two wreaths placed on the graves of victims of the Pevolution of 1818, and the celebrants had sevoral skirmishes with the police. These feverish symptoms, with the dynamite outbreak in Paris and the riot on Unter den Linden, suggest that Europe has stirring times ahead. Mr. Porter's opinion, presented to the cen-

as committee of the House, that a permanent bureau is the only means of securing a satisfactory count should have a great deal of weight. It comes from a man who is in a position to know exactly what he is talking about. The sentiment in favor of the permanent bureau is great and rapidly increasing. It is the only means of securing satisfactory returns for the money expended.

Notwithstanding the reported efforts to boss their decision the House committee on elec-tions have decided in the light of the testimony in the case and in accordance with the individual consciences of the members by an almost unanimous vote to unseat Mr. Rockwell, democrat, and seat Mr. Noyes, republican, in the New York contested election case.

The bill for remodeling and maintaining the bathing beach is expected to receive active attention. It is a project that is worthy of careful consideration. The demand for the beach has existed for a long time, and now that the enterprise is well on ite feet it should be encouraged.

LACES AT SPECIAL PRICES.

TO properly appreciate the special prices you must have a correct idea of the magnitude and variety of the Palais Royal's late importations and know of the qualties opened at the prices.

For instance: Here are the Bow-knot Drapery Nets of Black Chantilly lace at $1.35, of quality that will cost you $1.75 a yard elsewhere. The companion demi-flouncing is marked 50c., but may be ciaimed during this sale at 14c. a yard. WE KNOW that such

> THERE ARE REASONS FOR ALL THIS. Our Paris agent, Mr. Henri Kaiser, unintentionally tells you the whole story in a letter to our buyer. He writes: "As I anticipated, bow-knot/laces are again creating a furore, as are Point d'Irelande and Gene taces, in White and Beige. You will and your early importations will help you, as prices have advanced 10 and 15 per cent."

The fashion journals but echothe sentiments of our The fashion journals but echo the sentiments of our agent's Parisian experience. In fact so much is the coming tace craze recognized that the New York Herald lately devoted a column to the subject. It's not a question of what garment or material on which lace may be used, but when and where it MAY NOT be.

The Palais Boyal having the advantage of a resident foreign areast, and the operation of the basis of the palais to the contract of the palais to the contract of the palais to the contract of the palais to the pa ident foreign agent and the courage to abide by his opinions is enabled to now claim one of the largest, best and cheapest lace stocks in the United States, only allowing as competitors the few giant houses of New York and Chicago.

As an illustration of superior quality linked with low price see the Black Silk Point d'Ireland Demi Flouncings marked 50c., which for this sale are reduced

It requires a certain amount of experience to classify the new laces; Point d'Ireland, Point Gene and Point Guipure are related, but differ in rank. You may be unintentionally deceived by those who call Point Gene by the name of Point d'Irelande. We offer the Point Gene Lace in the fashionable Beige tint at nearly one-half the prices of Point d'Irelande; 11 inches wide, 35c. yard; 8 inches, 25c.; 3 inches, 10c., and 2% inches wide for 7c. At first glance you'll think them as good as those more expensive; that they are as beau-tiful your eyes will tell you.

Oglean an idea of the magnitude of our stock remember that there are very many prices between the extremes quoted below and in some instances a score of Point d'Irelande (silk, Beige) 35c, to $1.50 yard

> OUR buyer asks your attention to the new Tosca Nets, which have much finer mesh and are altogether more beautiful than any yet introduced. Those 54 inches are to be much worn. The buyer knows how and when to use them, and will be giad to furnish all information. The very levely new Lace Flouncings at $2 instead of $2.48 a yard and at $1.60 instead of $2.50 a yard are not the least of the many attractions of this special sale. At $1 a yard are many designs: one pattern of a stripe and vine with small spray between, another combines crescents, dots and daisies, and still another of floral and block; all these are $1.26

PERHAPS the Bead Gimp at $6 a yard is the best baryain of all. It sounds a high price, but you'll find that it is composed of a series of ornaments, that each cost but 75 cents and that but four are necessary to use as a zouve, which is all the trimming you'll want on the body of your new dress, unless you count the girdle, which is really more to embellish the skirt. Girdle is an unsatisfectory name for this 1892 combination. is an unsatisfectory name for this 1892 combination.
